

SIFT DIVORCE CAUSES

National Congress on Uniform Laws Meets.

MANY STATES REPRESENTED

Two Recommendations Are Made. Grounds for Absolute Divorce and for the Annulment of Marriages Discussed—Jurisdiction Next Subject to Be Taken Up at Convention.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13.—To obtain that which has been the aim for years of social reformers, of ecclesiastical conferences, and of eminent jurists—a uniform divorce law—there gathered in this city to-day more than 100 delegates to the National Congress on Uniform Divorce Laws, with Gov. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, at their head.

A majority of the States of the Union were represented by distinguished lawyers, clergymen, or sociologists, and in several instances women prominent in the fight for a stronger marriage law and female suffrage represented States. Governors and high church dignitaries were present.

Though much of to-day was necessarily taken up in the work of organization and the hearing of the reports from committees, still considerable progress was made and even should by some unexpected and improbable cause an end be put to the congress to-night, the adoption by all of the States in the Union of the two recommendations approved by the congress to-day would result in a great reformation in the divorce laws in the United States.

Two Points Are Settled. The two important things settled were the causes which should permit of the annulment of a marriage, and the causes which should permit of the granting of absolute divorce.

Upon the section which covers the causes for annulment of marriage, it is ruled, first:

Incurable physical impotency at the suit of either party, provided the party making the application for the divorce was ignorant of such incapacity or inability at the time of marriage.

Consanguinity or affinity, blood relationship, according to the table of degrees established by laws, at the suit of either party. It is provided, however, that when any such marriages shall not have been incurred into during the life time of the parties, the validity shall not be inquired into after the death of either party.

It then provides: "When such marriage was contracted while either of the parties had a husband or wife living."

"Fraud, force, or coercion at the suit of the injured or innocent party, unless the marriage had been confirmed by the acts of the injured party and the offense so condoned.

Insanity. Insanity, provided such insanity existed at the time of the marriage and was unknown to the person marrying the lunatic.

"At the suit of the wife when she is under sixteen years of age, or of the husband if under eighteen years of age at the time of marriage, providing that such marriage shall not have been confirmed by her or him after arriving at these ages, are all to be subjected to annulment."

"For absolute divorce the following causes are approved: Adultery, bigamy, conviction and sentence for crime, followed by a continuous imprisonment for at least two years, and extreme cruelty, such as to endanger the life or health of the plaintiff, habitual drunkenness for two years, and willful desertion for the same time."

"At to-morrow's session partial divorce and jurisdiction will be considered."

FIND PLOT TO KILL KING.

Anarchists from Paterson Are Arrested at Naples, Italy.

Naples, Nov. 13.—What the police say was a deliberate and most skillfully planned plot to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and the Duke and Duchess of Aosta was nipped in the bud here to-day by the arrest of Gabriel Lanesetta and a man known to be Lanesetta's cousin, but whose name is unknown.

The two men were recent arrivals in Naples, having come here from Paterson, N. J. The arrest was made by Italian police upon cable information from New York detectives engaged on the case for several weeks.

Lanesetta was to have slain the King and the other man was to be employed to kill the Duke and Duchess of Aosta. According to the information of the officers, it is declared that the details of the assassination were all worked out at a recent meeting in Paterson, N. J.

TWO DIE IN HOTEL FIRE.

Three Persons Rescued in Half-Suffocated Condition.

Port Chester, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Two men lost their lives in a supposed incendiary fire that destroyed Weeks' Hotel here to-day.

The men burned to death were William O'Brien, thirty-three years old, brother-in-law of Thomas Cummins, a saloon keeper, of Greenpoint avenue, Brooklyn, and William Kane, of Rahway, N. J. The men occupied rooms in a two-story frame addition in the rear of the main building, where the fire started.

Mrs. Charles Weeks, her twelve-year-old daughter, and her father, William Bushwite, seventy years of age, were carried out by the firemen through smoke and flames in a half-suffocated condition.

British Ship Is Wrecked.

Astoria, Ore., Nov. 13.—The British ship Galena, sixty days from Junin, Chile, on this port, went aground on Clatsop Beach, near Gearhart Park, to-day, and will prove a total wreck. The officers and crew made shore in life boats uninjured.

Refuses to Abolish Death Penalty.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 13.—After a three hours' discussion the house of representatives by a vote of 140 to 73, this afternoon, refused to abolish the death penalty on persons convicted of murder in first degree.

Killed by a Live Wire.

Lockport, N. Y., Nov. 13.—John McCarthy, sixty years old, while running wires through a conduit came in contact with a live wire which carried a voltage of 2,500, and was instantly killed.

Senator Brice's Son Is Married.

New York, Nov. 13.—Stewart Melley Brice, former Spanish war veteran, and son of the late Senator Brice, of Ohio, was married to-night to Miss Katherine W. Mount, of Indianapolis.

Whalebone Catch Is Small.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 13.—According to advices received here from the Arctic fleet the full catch of whalebone this season will not exceed 20,000 pounds, the smallest in years.

SAYS ILLEGAL NAME IS USED.

Boston Concern Indicted for Advertising as a Trust Company.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13.—The first criminal prosecution under the revised laws, which provide a penalty for advertising and putting forth a company as a trust company, when it is not a trust company incorporated as such under the laws of this State, was brought to light this morning when the Corporation Trust and Investment Company of 60 State street, was called to plead in the Superior Criminal Court to an indictment returned at the October sitting.

The indictment sets forth that the corporation advertised and put forth its name as a trust company, not being incorporated as such according to law. By its counsel, Charles F. Eddy, it pleaded not guilty. The penalty for a violation of the statute is a severe one, being $100 for each day that the wrongful use of the word trust continues.

GIRL WITNESS FOR GILLETTE

Miss Benedict Will Deny Her Engagement to Prisoner.

The dozen men are subject to peremptory challenges, and at least a couple of them will be permitted to step aside to-morrow forenoon when the trial is resumed. From present indications, however, the selection of the jurors who are to determine the fate of the youthful prisoner will be completed by to-morrow noon, and the taking of testimony commenced at the afternoon session.

Her Testimony Expected to Weaken State's Theory that Crime Was Committed So They Could Wed.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Twelve men sat in the jury box when the second day session of the trial of Chester Gillette, of Cortland, accused of the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, was concluded in Herkimer at 6 o'clock to-night, but this fact does not signify that the task of securing a jury has been completed.

The dozen men are subject to peremptory challenges, and at least a couple of them will be permitted to step aside to-morrow forenoon when the trial is resumed. From present indications, however, the selection of the jurors who are to determine the fate of the youthful prisoner will be completed by to-morrow noon, and the taking of testimony commenced at the afternoon session.

To-day's proceedings in the trial, which gives subtle promise of developing into the most sensational case in the criminal annals of central New York, were devoid of any unusual incident. The examination of talesman dragged along in a tedious manner, many being excused from service because they were biased, or something else equally distasteful to the legal representatives of one side or the other.

No Intimation as to Defense.

Gillette's composure and complacency were unchanged to-day, he presenting the same picture of amazing unconcern he did yesterday, when the case against him was called for trial. His chewing gum retains its favoritism with him, and his lower jaw was continually, as he lounges lazily in his arm chair beside his counsel.

The probable defense that Gillette's lawyers will put forth, in an attempt to save him from the electric chair, continues a mystery.

Attorney Thomas has gone into the trial so far without showing any knowledge of the defense which is to be advanced in Gillette's behalf to escape the minds of himself or the prisoner. All efforts on the part of the newspaper men to ascertain whether the suicide theory is actually to be the version of Grace Brown's death to be taken up by the defense have been rebuffed. Mr. Thomas will not discuss the question himself, and he refuses to permit Gillette to talk with any one about the charge he is facing.

The contention that the prosecution will make that young Gillette accomplished the ruin of Grace Brown, and then murdered the girl for the purpose of ridding himself of her, that he might marry a Miss Benedict, of Cortland, will play an important part in the trial. Miss Benedict is a Cortland society belle, daughter of a very prominent lawyer here. Immediately after the arrest of Gillette at Arroyo Head, it became rumored that Gillette and Miss Benedict were betrothed.

Miss Benedict will come to Herkimer to-morrow and will be sworn as a witness to talk with any one about the charge he is facing. The star witness for the defense, for she has already denied the statement that she and Gillette were engaged, or had ever talked of becoming engaged.

Commits Suicide in Water Trough. Boston, Nov. 13.—An inmate of the Pierce Farm for the Insane, Bernard Sacrosin, of Boston, committed suicide by holding his head below the water in a watering trough in the rear of the stable on the grounds.

FROM WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT.

There is one annoying class of persons that nobody has succeeded in putting down—the borrowers. I do not mean those who have to call upon their friends and neighbors in an emergency and appreciate favors by evening up matters at the next convenient convenience, for they are not the real borrowers; but a host of women who seem to think that we are glad to take the clothes from our back to add to their pleasure, and who seldom take the trouble to return articles in a good condition, if they return them at all, is preying upon the good nature of both men and women, and no remedy is in sight.

There is a monotonous about supplying the necessities and some of the luxuries of life to those who are able to buy them, but either forget or willfully neglect to provide for themselves. There are women who have an aversion to loaning personal articles, yet hardly know how to refuse audacious requests. I have yet to find the person who knows how to shake off borrowers without giving mortal offense, and the making of enemies seems worse than being tormented by borrowers. There seems to be nothing left but an appeal to the members of the troublesome class, a few of whom may be only careless and need but a word to make them mend their ways.

An emergency is always an excuse for a call for assistance, and few are the homes which can be thoroughly independent of neighbors or friends. But returns should be prompt and generous—it certainly is not fair to borrow fresh eggs and carry back stale ones, yet it is a common trick and a source of annoyance, naturally. I have known more than one case where expensive brands of tea, coffee, and butter have been borrowed by families that used cheaper grades, and considered their obligation discharged when the exact quantity of borrowed material was returned.

Borrowing personal belongings is not necessary save in rare cases. Among sisters it is a common habit, and between some mothers and daughters there is perfect harmony regarding the wearing of clothing and ornaments. The majority of women, however, have a strong feeling on the subject of ownership, and a friend whose mother used her combs and brushes and who was really offended when the daughter suggested that it was better all around to keep to her own toilet articles. I know that this annoyance was a real cross to the girl and was instrumental in driving her out into the world as a wage-earner.

Borrowing music is rather audacious because of its frail nature and the impossibility of avoiding mutilation. The ordinary wear and tear of use would be classed under that head. Borrowing books has very little excuse, because real book-lovers dislike to trust their treasures to the care of others. Still there are men and women who are very careful of borrowed books, and they might be tolerated. A simple linen cover kept on a book while in use is a safeguard against outside mutilation, and I know one house well-stocked with covers, which are always dusted before books pass into alien hands. It would be a good thing for regular book borrowers to supply themselves with a few of these conveniences.

Courtesy between neighbors and friends is to be encouraged, of course, and an exchange of favors is sometimes a source of enjoyment. But it must be a real exchange, where matters are equalized to the best of one's ability. Give and take, both freely, must be the laws of the game or one side is being cheated. Borrowers are not usually persons of fine feelings, else they would not be content to rest under obligations to man or woman, so as they cannot be put down by their own conscience it is rather a difficult task to deal with them and with one's annoyance so that there shall be no clash.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

A CLEVER USE OF PLAID SILK.

Some of the smartest light matinee frocks now making their appearance are made of light colored striped lunisole or tafetas, and trimmed with bits of colored velvet, silk bands or plaid silk pipings. The pictured model is of dark brown seed silk, in two-piece style. The skirt and bodice meet at the waistline, and are joined with a scalloped piping of dark-toned plaid silk. More of the scalloped plaid pipings trim the bodice and the prettily flaring skirt. A white lace guimpe with long sleeves has collar and cuffs edged with plaid silk matching that used on the frock proper.

TO HAVE OWN EXPRESS LINE.

Rock Island Road Back of Newly Incorporated Concern. New York, Nov. 13.—The North American Express Company, which was incorporated in Maine several weeks ago with a capital of $2,000,000, has, among its officers, several officers of the Rock Island-Frisco System, and it was announced to-day that it is the purpose of the company to do an express business on the Rock Island System, and a general express business.

At present the express business on the road is handled by the United States, the Wells-Fargo, the Pacific, and the American Express companies.

Some of the contracts expire January 1, and in the negotiations for renewal of them the new company will, it is expected, interpose bids against the companies holding the present contracts.

INDICTED FOR REBATING.

Railroad Agent, Brokers, and Grain Dealer Accused at Kansas City. Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 13.—Indictments alleging conspiracy to violate the interstate commerce laws were returned to-day by the Federal grand jury against William A. McGowan, agent for the Nickel Plate Fast Freight Line; D. S. Kresky, a freight broker, and against Henry S. Hartley, a grain dealer, charging that the latter accepted rebates from the Frisco Railway.

The indictments against McGowan and Kresky are brought under the statute covering punishment prescribed is imprisonment for any time not exceeding two years, and a fine of from $1,000 to $30,000, or both. The indictment against Hartley charges a violation of the Elkins anti-rebate law. Such a violation is punishable by a fine of from $1,000 to $20,000.

Physician Ends His Life.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Harry E. Bodman, who came here from New York City recently, sent a bullet into his brain at 11 o'clock last night, in his room, dying an hour later. Bodman is said to have had a large practice in New York at one time.

Willie Collier produced his new piece, "Caught in the Rain," at the Savoy Theater, in Atlantic City, on Monday night. The original manuscript of this play was destroyed in the San Francisco earthquake, and it was re-written by Collier on scraps of paper, men's cards and other odds and ends on his way across the Pacific to Australia.

Fritz Scheff has a new palace auto, furnished with all the comforts of a home, including a collar with trimmings and other necessary ingredients of garden parties. Fritz has been putting on so many airs since she got the mogul bulldog that she caught a violent cold, and the chestnut-colored and Margaret "Clark in 'Happyland." The new theater is a steel and cement structure, said to be as near fireproof as money and science could make it.

At last the dream of "Hamlet," with Hamlet left out, has been realized. In Hadden Chambers' three-act farce of "Sir Anthony," no such character appears among the persons of the drama. Sir Anthony is a member of the gentry who the snobs of the farce incessantly talk about, and claim acquaintance with, but who is never introduced on the scene. The new piece was produced at a matinee in Boston on Monday, and is reported to have gone with a rush.

One way New York managers try to snatch success from the jaws of failure is to change the name of the play that gets the lemon from Broadway, and palm it off on the "provinces." By this means they may be able to get back the money they invested in scenery and costumes at least, and it is possible the uncritical provinces may find merit where the wise guys along the Great White Way saw "only stupidity." "The Blainey Diamonds," one of the lame ducks of last year, is now on the road as "The Morning After."

Oscar Hammerstein is having no end of trouble in trying to carry out his independent grand opera season in New York. The courts have restrained him from producing the Puccini operas; the singers he has engaged in Europe to appear in them threaten to sue him if he doesn't let them come over and warble, and now it is announced from Paris that Eduard de Reszke, headliner of Oscar's whole operatic outfit, has cancelled his engagement because the impresario failed to make good in certain preliminary arrangements. Oscar denies this and says de Reszke's voice is off.

ERIE OUTLOOK BETTER

Indications Are for Peaceful Settlement of Trouble.

HANAHAN IS NONCOMMITTAL

Central and New Haven Make Six Months' Arrangement on Electric Motors—Engineers and Erie at Work Readjusting Wages—Negotiations in Progress at Pittsburg.

New York, Nov. 13.—The indications of to-day pointed to the peaceful settlement of the questions at issue between the officials of the various railroads running into this city and the employees in the various branches of the service now under discussion.

While the poll of the firemen on the Erie Railroad system may result in a strike vote, and Grand Chief Hanahan, of the firemen, may then make a strike operative at once by sanctioning it or may veto it, the officials of the Erie Railroad say there is nothing in the situation to warrant strike talk, and the engineers, who have begun their conference with the company, say there is no chance of any but a peaceful settlement of their problems.

As far as Chief Hanahan is concerned, his intentions seemed to be locked in his own breast to-day. His promised statement did not materialize, and he seemed to discuss the strike vote or anything else.

The version of the letter which he admits having received from President Underwood, of the Erie, which was given to-day on behalf of the company, differed radically from the version given by Chief Hanahan on Saturday last, when he announced that the strike poll had been ordered. He said then that President Underwood's letter had confirmed a refusal of the demands of the firemen by General Manager Stuart, and that Mr. Underwood had advised the firemen's committee to go home and think over the matter.

Make Six Months' Agreement. The adjustment committees of the firemen on the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford reached an agreement with the company this afternoon as to the status of the firemen who are to be employed on the electric motors to be operated by these roads.

The agreement reached was that the new motors are to be operated for the two companies for the next six months by the engineers as if they were still engineers, the firemen to be employed as helpers. At the end of six months another conference is to be held and a final adjustment will be made, based on the six months' experiment. It is expected that in the final adjustment the mileage for a day's work will be increased.

In a few days conferences with the firemen and engineers will begin as to the regular full adjustment of wages. This will have nothing to do with the matters discussed to-day. General Superintendent Smith, of the Central, said he believed he would reach an agreement with the engineers and firemen as usual.

Adjusting Engineers' Wages.

The adjustment committee of the Erie engineers began a series of conferences as to wages and conditions with Assistant General Manager A. J. Stone, of the Erie Railroad, at the Bowling Green Building, this afternoon. It was said that the conference may last several weeks.

At to-day's conference it was agreed to make the mileage system of payment general. Hitherto the mileage system had been in vogue on some divisions, and payment by the day on others.

On behalf of the company the following statement was made: "There will be 300 or 350 different rates of payments to be adjusted, covering as many different kinds of work. This will take considerable time; but the relations between the engineers and the company are very cordial, and the same satisfactory arrangements as in other years will be had."

Negotiations at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 13.—Representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen are still in conference relative to the demands made on the Pennsylvania lines west for a wage increase.

C. B. Sawash, chairman of the general committee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the matter was now up to the general manager of the railroad. Mr. Sawash said the increase granted by the Pennsylvania of 10 per cent to his employees would positively not be accepted.

To Be Exact.

THEODORE BELL IS A GIRL

Telegram of Happy Father to President Proves Premature.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 13.—Brig. Gen. Bell's new daughter will be commended to make her debut as Miss Theodore Roosevelt Bell, unless her military father retreats from the position he has taken and permits her to change her first name to Theodore.

Gen. Bell was appraised by wire, during his absence from home, that he had become the father of a son, and he immediately wired the happy news to President Roosevelt, telling him the young man would be named after the nation's Chief Executive. President Roosevelt wired his appreciation.

The irresponsible telegraph wires must have made an awful mistake, for when Gen. Bell received later news, he was deeply chagrined that his selection of a name had been too hurriedly made, and his friends now wonder if the general will beat a retreat.

NANSEN LAUDS PEARY'S WORK

Says It Suggests Good Basis for Future Polar Expeditions.

London, Nov. 13.—"Peary's magnificent expedition," writes Fridtjof Nansen, the explorer, in an article for a London paper, "makes immensely important additions to the knowledge of the most inaccessible parts of the region surrounding the north pole."

"Both in going north where he put the bright mark of human skill and daring thirty-two minutes above the highest latitude hitherto attained, and in returning homeward, Peary seems to have met his difficulties with the most wonderful ability and endurance."

He has proved that north of Grant Land and Greenland there is no land, but a vast stretch covered with drifting ice. "By exploring the coast of Grand Land, and between Aldrich's farthest west and Sverdrup's farthest east, Peary has brought the shores of this interesting arctic land entirely within the horizon of human knowledge. Peary's mention of other land near the 100th meridian, suggests that the land, or islands, here extend northward into the unknown, possibly forming a good basis for a future polar expedition."

"America must be very proud of this remarkable explorer whose great ability and indomitable will so stir the feelings of the world."

"Our astonishment is complete when we learn that Peary will go on a new quest for the pole, and for my part, I believe that, with an adequate equipment, and above all, with plenty of good dogs, this marvelous sledge traveler will accomplish his task."

"My own experience proves to me that a sledge expedition across the polar ice from the northernmost known land to the north pole and back is not an impossibility."

"There is also another way, namely, by drifting across the north polar basin in a ship inclosed in the ice in the same manner as that adopted by the Fram expedition. Peary's latest discovery reveals still more clearly the advantages of this method."

"Send a ship through Bering Strait and let her penetrate as far north as possible, in the region between 150 and 170 degrees west longitude—that is, northwest from the coast of Alaska—let her be frozen in and borne along with the ice, and she will be carried across the north polar region far north of the route of the Fram. After five or six years, or perhaps in a little less time, she will be carried out on this side of the pole, between Greenland and Spitzbergen."

"Never Will Be Missed. From the Philadelphia Press. Some of the defeated Congressmen won't be as much missed by Congress as Congress will be missed by them, and we mention no names."
